Conditions of Connection Details

GENERAL

In these conditions the terms,

- (a) 'You' and 'Your' refer to the owner of a property connected (or about to be connected) to Yarra Valley Water assets
- (b) 'We', 'Us' and 'Our' refer to Yarra Valley Water.

Section 145 of the Water Act 1989 details the legislative rights and responsibilities of both the applicant and Yarra Valley Water in relation to connection, alteration or removal and discharging to the works of Yarra Valley Water. These Conditions of Connection set out the terms and conditions to be satisfied for connecting a property to sewer, potable and recycled water.

These conditions are binding on successor-in-title of the person who applied for that consent, under section 145 of the Water Act 1989. If you are not the owner of the property, please provide a copy of this letter to the owner.

The Conditions of Connection must be handed to the Licensed Plumber. Any work which these Conditions of Connection require you to undertake must be done by a Licensed Plumber, engaged by you, at your cost. It is the Licensed Plumber's responsibility to ensure that the plumbing and drainage work is completed in accordance with the relevant plumbing regulations and to the satisfaction of the Plumbing Industry Commission.

Any sewer connection branch and the connecting works must be installed so that they comply, in all respects, with the:

- Plumbing Regulations 1998 (Vic);
 - Water Industry Regulations 2006 (Vic);
 - Building Act 1993 (Vic);
 - Relevant AS/NZS series of standards applicable to sewer connection branch and connecting works from time to time,
- and any other technical requirements which we reasonably specify.

If your property is subject to flooding you should contact Melbourne Water to confirm any actual recorded flood level and assess this information for any impact to the proposed development.

It is the responsibility of the person performing any excavation in a road reserve to obtain a Road Opening Permit from the relevant Authority before any excavation work commences. All traffic management requirements contained in the permit must be complied with.

WATER

The existing service is to be disconnected and the main plugged. The meter must be returned to Yarra Valley Water, so please make sure it is available for our contractor to collect at the time of disconnection. If the meter is not available for collection, the tapping may be cancelled and a rebooking fee will apply.

Water supply(s) services that are to be removed are listed in the Conditions of Connection. In a mandated recycled water area the recycled water service(s) must also be removed and are referenced in the same table.

All tappings, pluggings and metering products may be arranged directly via the easyACCESS system. Work is to be carried out in accordance with the Water Metering & Servicing Guidelines available on our website.

All meters are supplied by Yarra Valley Water after payment of the relevant fees.

If the tapping and/or plugging is required to be performed outside of business hours, either at your request or as determined by Yarra Valley Water's plumbing contractor, an additional after hours fee will apply.

Meters are not permitted to be installed inside units/dwellings. In all situations where the meter is deemed inaccessible, either by your advice, or as determined by Yarra Valley Water plumbing contractor, remote read meters must be fitted at your cost. Remote read meters must be installed in the following circumstances: high rise developments; any water meter which is located where Yarra Valley Water will have to enter a building to read the meter; where access to the meter will be restricted by gates/fences. If you are aware that remote read meters will be required, please inform the easyACCESS staff at the time of booking.

For all tappings and/or pluggings, it is the responsibility of the person performing the excavation to obtain a Road Opening Permit from the local municipal authority before any excavation work commences. All traffic management requirements contained in the Road Opening permit must be complied with. The excavation must expose the main at the tapping/plugging point and be made safe prior to the tapping / plugging appointment time. If you choose to have Yarra Valley Water's plumbing contractor carry out the excavation, Yarra Valley Water will organize the necessary permit at an additional cost on a per road opening basis.

Failure to comply with any of these requirements will result in the booking being cancelled and a rebooking fee will apply.

Yarra Valley Water's plumbing contractor can be contacted on 1300 724 858.

Where you have elected for your plumber to provide the excavation, you will be contacted by Yarra Valley Water within 2 working days of your booking to confirm an appointment date and time. If you have elected for Yarra Valley Water to provide the excavation, you will be contacted to confirm your preferred location for the service. Should you wish to reschedule the booking, Yarra Valley Water's plumbing contractor can be contacted on 1300 724 858. If you wish to cancel the booking you will need to return to the easyACCESS store where the booking was made (if applicable) to seek a refund. A cancellation fee may apply.

A cathodic protection device is attached to the water main in the vicinity of this property. Please exercise extreme caution when excavating in this area.

METER ASSEMBLIES & POSITIONING

It is the responsibility of the private plumber to ensure that containment, zone and individual backflow prevention is provided.

Water meter assemblies:

- a) Must be within 2 metres of the title boundary that abuts the water main
- b) Must be fitted at right angles to the water main, in line with the tapping
- c) Must be fully supported with minimum ground clearance of 150mm and should not be >300mm from the finished ground level to the base of the assembly
- d) Must not be encased in concrete surrounds
- e) Must be readily accessible for reading, maintenance and replacement. If Yarra Valley Water deem meters to be inaccessible, remote meters may be required at additional cost to the customer
- f) Can be installed in utility rooms or meter cabinets located within a common access area and must be readily accessible, subject to Yarra Valley Water's approval

If meters need to be moved >600mm a plugging and re-tapping must be booked and the relevant fee paid.

Meters which are in a public space such as a reserve or school must be protected by an appropriate cage to prevent tampering.

Meters are not permitted to be installed in pits unless prior approval has been given by Yarra Valley Water.

Meter assemblies must adhere to the meter installation diagrams available on the Yarra Valley Water website (www.yvw.com.au) to ensure the installations meet the required standard.

REMOVAL OF WATER METERS

Only Yarra Valley Water's plumbing contractor is permitted to remove water meters.

If redevelopment of the site is occurring and the meter is no longer required, a plugging of the service must be arranged and the meter will be collected by our contractor at the time of the plugging.

AMENDMENTS

We may amend these conditions by writing to you. We may do so if we consider that any change, or proposed change, to relevant laws or our regulatory obligations require an amendment to be made.

We may also amend these conditions from time to time if we consider that it is necessary to:

- ensure that we are able to continue to comply with any law relating to health, safety or the environment, or our agreement with our bulk supplier of sewage transfer and treatment services; or
- the health or safety of anyone; or
- any part of the environment; or
- any of our works.

INDEMNITY

You must indemnify Yarra Valley Water against:

- all damages, losses, penalties, costs and expenses whatsoever, which we suffer or incur; and
- all proceedings, prosecutions or demands brought or made against us by anyone, as a result of you failing to perform any of our obligations under these conditions, except to the extent that the failure has been caused by our negligence.

You must not bring any proceeding or make any demand against us for any damage, loss, cost or expense of any kind whatsoever which you incur, directly or indirectly, as a result of Yarra Valley Water amending these conditions.

You must pay us any costs we reasonably incur in:

- making good any damage to our assets or works directly or indirectly caused by your failure to comply with these conditions; and
- inspecting our assets or works to see if such damage has been caused.

Notes to certificates under Section 105 of the Land Tax Act 2005

Certificate No: 97208940

1. Under Section 96 of the Land Tax Act 2005 (the Act), land tax is a first charge on the land to which it relates and should the vendor default, payment will be obtained from the purchaser. The purchaser should take into account the possibility that the vendor may default where land tax has been assessed but not paid.
2. If land tax is due but not paid on a property, the Land Tax Clearance Certificate will certify the amount of land tax due and payable on that land. This amount will be binding on the Commissioner of State Revenue (the Commissioner) for purposes of section 96 of the Act whether or not it is paid to the State Revenue Office (SRO) on, or shortly after, settlement.
3. The amount of land tax on this certificate relates to the amount of land tax due and payable as at the date of the application only and not to any future liability or the tax status of the land.
4. A 'Nil' Land Tax Clearance certificate does not mean that the land on the certificate is exempt from land tax.
5. If land tax will be payable on a property but payment is not due at the time the application is processed, the certificate will certify the amount that should be retained by the purchaser at settlement and remitted to the SRO. The Commissioner will consider himself bound by this amount against the purchaser, only if the amount is remitted to the SRO within 28 days after settlement.
6. If the amount in 3. (above) is understated, the Commissioner has the right to seek recovery of the correct amount, or the balance, as the case may be, from
 - a. the vendor, or
 - b. the purchaser, if the vendor defaults and the certified amount has not been remitted to the SRO within 28 days after settlement.
7. If an amount is certified in respect of a proposed sale which is not completed, the Commissioner will not be bound by the same amount in respect of a later sale of the subject land - another certificate must be applied for in respect of that transaction.
8. If an amount certified is excessively high (for example, because a principal residence concession has not been deducted in calculating the amount) the Commissioner
- will issue an amended certificate, without an additional fee being charged on receipt of sufficient evidence to that effect from the vendor.
9. If no land tax is stated as being payable in respect of the property, the Commissioner will consider himself bound by that certification, in respect of the purchaser, if the land is subsequently found to be taxable and the vendor defaults.
10. If the vendor refuses to be bound by an amount stated by the Commissioner and does not agree to the amount being withheld and remitted at settlement, the purchaser cannot rely on such refusal as a defence to an action by the Commissioner to recover the outstanding amount from the purchaser under Sections 96 or 98 of the Act.
11. The information on a certificate cannot preclude the Commissioner from taking action against a vendor to recover outstanding land tax.

Advice provided from the Register

Access to the information requested from the Register in the "Application for advice as to the existence of records in relation to a nominated area of land" form (the "Form") is subject to the discretion of the Secretary and the requirements of the Act.

The absence of records on the Register for a nominated area of land does not necessarily mean that the area is devoid of Aboriginal cultural heritage values. Applicants should be aware of the provisions of s.17 and s.24 of the Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006, which require the reporting of Aboriginal remains, Aboriginal places and objects discovered in Victoria. Applicants should also be aware that it is an offence under the Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006 to harm Aboriginal cultural heritage, for which significant penalties apply. This advice does not abrogate any requirement to prepare a Cultural Heritage Management Plan under the Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006.

Specific conditions of advice provided from the Register for an application under s.147

The Secretary, Department of Premier and Cabinet may refuse to provide any information to the Applicant if the provision of the information would be likely to endanger Aboriginal cultural heritage (refer to s.147 (4) of the Act).

Dear Mr Trembath

NOMINATION OF POWER STATION B (1954 BOILER HOUSE) AT THE FORMER AMCOR PAPER MILL, 626 HEIDELBERG ROAD ALPHINGTON, TO THE VICTORIAN HERITAGE REGISTER

I am writing to advise that I have received and accepted a nomination for the above place to be considered for inclusion in the Victorian Heritage Register. A copy of the nomination is enclosed for your information. Please note that the Heritage Act 1995 requires Heritage Victoria to accept nomination applications which are administratively complete. The acceptance of this application does not indicate any assessment or judgement around the level of cultural heritage significance of this place.

A leaflet outlining the process that follows my acceptance of a nomination is provided with this letter. In summary, the process involves:

- assessment of the nomination by a Heritage Victoria officer;
- a recommendation by me on whether the Heritage Council should or should not include the place in the Victorian Heritage Register;
- public notice of my recommendation (60 days are provided for public submissions to be made on the recommendation);
- a hearing by the Heritage Council, if requested;
- a decision by the Heritage Council to include or not include the place in the Victorian Heritage Register.

When the assessment has been completed, I will make one of the following recommendations to the Heritage Council:

- that the place be included in the Victorian Heritage Register
- that the place not be included in the Victorian Heritage Register

You will be notified of my recommendation and will be provided with an opportunity to make a submission. If the recommendation is that the place be included in the Victorian Heritage Register, you will be given details of exactly what is proposed to be included and the reasons why I believe it is a heritage place of state-level heritage significance. It is important to note that my recommendation is not the final decision. This decision will be made by the Heritage Council, an independent statutory authority, following its consideration of my recommendation and all submissions made in response to my recommendation.

Please note that under the Heritage Act 1995, an owner has the following obligations if a place or object that has been nominated is proposed for sale:

- s.31(1): The owner of land or an object that is the subject of a nomination must, before entering into a contract for the sale of that land or object, inform the purchaser of the land or object of the nomination and of any deferral of consideration of the nomination.
- s.31(2): If the owner of land or an object that is the subject of a nomination fails to comply with s.31(1), the contract is not invalid, but is voidable at the option of the purchaser.

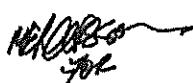

If you are aware of any person or organisation who has an interest in this matter and would like to receive correspondence, I would be grateful if you could ensure they make themselves known to Heritage Victoria so that they may be included on our mailing list.

If you have any queries about the process which are not covered in the accompanying documents please contact Dr Marina Larsson, Principal, Assessments on 03 9938 6881 or email heritage.registrations@delwp.vic.gov.au.

Our preferred method of contacting you is by email at: craig.trembath@glenvill.com.au. Please advise if you have an alternative email or would prefer to receive correspondence by post.

Please note that the Conservation Management Plan (prepared by Lovell Chen in 2014) is not enclosed with the nomination due to its size. If you require a copy, please email heritage.registrations.delwp.vic.gov.au.

Yours sincerely

TIM SMITH

Which Heritage Council of Victoria Criteria does this place meet?

Tick the Heritage Council of Victoria Criteria which apply to this place/object. For a place or object to be included in the Victorian Heritage Register it must meet at least one of the Heritage Council of Victoria Criteria at a level of state significance. Please address only the relevant criteria. It is usual for a place/object to meet 2 or 3 criteria.

Further explanation about these Criteria can be found in the Victorian Heritage Register Criteria and Threshold Guidelines.

- Criterion A Importance to the course, or pattern, of Victoria's cultural history.
- Criterion B Possession of uncommon, rare or endangered aspects of Victoria's cultural history.
- Criterion C Potential to yield information that will contribute to an understanding of Victoria's cultural history. (This usually refers to archaeological potential).
- Criterion D Importance in demonstrating the principal characteristics of a class of cultural places or objects. (A 'class' may be a particular architectural style or type of heritage).
- Criterion E Importance in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics.
- Criterion F Importance in demonstrating a high degree of creative or technical achievement at a particular period.
- Criterion G Strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social, cultural or spiritual reasons. This includes the significance of a place to Indigenous peoples as part of their continuing and developing cultural traditions.
- Criterion H Special association with the life or works of a person, or group of persons, of importance in Victoria's history.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Significance.

You must prepare a brief statement in the following format to illustrate what, how and why the place or object is of state level significance. Use the structure below.

What is significant?

Describe the place/object in one paragraph naming the most significant elements.

For example: "All of the John Smith Homestead including the original 1860s residence and garden, woolshed, boundary riders quarters, cookhouse with cellar, driveway lined by row of English Oaks, chapel and Aboriginal scarred tree".

All of the fabric of the building known as Power Station B dating from its original construction phase if 1951-54 (deemed to include the components referred to as the boiler house, turbine house, coal conveyors and chimney) but excluding post-1954 additions, notably the two gas-fired boilers added to the north side in c.1963 and c.1973.

How is it significant?

For example: "The John Smith Homestead satisfies the following criterion for inclusion in the Victorian Heritage Register: Criterion A, D, and H."

Power Station B satisfies the following criteria for inclusion in the Victorian Heritage Register: Criterion F

Why is it significant?

Justify why the place/object meets the criteria at the level of state significance. Write one paragraph addressing each Criterion separately in the following style:

The John Smith Homestead is historically significant because is of historical significance as one of the earliest surviving homesteads built at a remote pastoral station in Victoria ... provide more details and evidence of this claim... [Criterion A]

The John Smith Homestead is architecturally significant as a surviving example of a early colonial vernacular homestead in Victoria and as a demonstration of early timber bush construction. ... provide more details and evidence of this claim... [Criterion D]

The John Smith Homestead is of historical significance for its special association with John Smith a influential member of Victoria's first Parliament who later achieved public eminence for ... provide more details and evidence of this claim... [Criterion H]

Power Station B is of demonstrates a high degree of creative and technical achievement as one of Victoria's earliest examples of curtain walling, in the modern sense of a non-structural infill of continuous metal-framed glazing, uninterrupted by structural elements. Although a unique and atypical example of this technology emerged in Melbourne before the war (in Walter Burley's Griffin's Leonard House of 1924, since demolished), it would not become more widely accepted on the local architectural scene until the 1950s. While not published until 1954, Power Station B was designed as early as 1951 and already well under construction in 1951-52, thus significantly predating other early examples of curtain-walling in Victoria, which included a number of factories, office blocks and other buildings designed and between 1952 and 1956. With a sheer metal-framed glass wall extending over the equivalent of five storeys, Power Station B made used this new technology to make a bold architectural statement, ushering in an new era of sheer glass-fronted skyscrapers that burgeoned from 1955 (with the completion of Gilbert Court in Collin Street) and continued into the 1960s and beyond.

... please continue on an additional sheet of paper if necessary.

History

Write a short history of the place/object (two to three paragraphs or longer if desired). You may attach documents. A place/object cannot be considered for the Heritage Register until its history is understood. It is not necessary to write a definitive or comprehensive history. Your history should draw out why the place is of state level heritage significance. You should provide evidence for any claims you make and indicate the sources of your information.

The history of the entire Amcor Mill site is well documented in the CMP prepared by Lovell Chen in 2013 (attached), and will only be briefly summarised here. The history of the subject building incorporates new research by the nominator, confirming its date of construction to be somewhat earlier than previously assumed.

The subject building, commonly referred to as the boiler house, turbine house or power house but more properly known as "Power Station B", forms part of the so-called Fairfield Mill established in 1919 at Heidelberg Road, Alphington, by what was then known as the Australian Paper & Pulp Company Ltd. This firm, known after 1926 as Australian Paper Manufacturers Ltd, resulted from the merging or takeover of several paper manufacturers in Sydney, Geelong and Melbourne, including one that had been established in South Melbourne in 1868.

When it commenced operation in 1921, APM's Fairfield Mill comprised an H-shaped production building, offices, railway siding and boiler house (aka Power Station A). The complex expanded considerably in the inter-war period, which included enlargement of the original boiler house in 1932, and the subsequent installation of a turbo-electric generator. Expansion of the complex continued into the early post-war era, which necessitated the construction of a second power station to provide the necessary power supply.

It is often stated that the second boiler house (aka Power Station B) dates from 1954. This date was first cited in Don Ward's Guide to Melbourne Architecture (1956) and has been re-iterated in more recent sources including Philip Goad's Melbourne Architecture (1999) and various heritage assessments. The date appears to stem from the first photographs of the completed building were published in October 1954. However, new research undertaken for this nomination confirms that construction was already well underway by 1951-52. The building was indisputably designed by September 1952, when a perspective drawing was published in that month's issue of Architecture & Arts (see attached). The caption accompanying the image cited the date of 1951. This should be considered reliable, given that engineer Norman Mussen, one of the designers of the building, is credited in the front pages as one of the contributors to that issue.

Newspaper references confirm that Power Station B was not only designed but already under construction in 1951. At the end of March, there was a report of industrial action by "200 carpenters and builder's labourers employed in constructing a power house for the Australian Paper Mills at Fairfield" (Argus, 30/03/1951:6). In August, project builders John Holland (Constructions) Pty Ltd invited tenders for the plumbing sub-contact for "Power Station B, APM Ltd, Fairfield" (Argus, 15/08/1951:13). The following March, the same firm invited tenders for the painting of Power Station B (Argus, 29/03/1952:17). Construction of the building was still underway in late September 1952, when a worker, Edwin Spencer, was killed after scaffolding collapsed at the boiler house site (Age, 01/10/1952:9; see also Age, 01/09/1954:4).

While the foregoing research confirms indisputably that the building was designed as early as 1951, and already under construction in March of that year, the date of completion is less well documented. Photographs of the completed building appeared in both Architecture & Arts and Cross Section in October 1954, with further publicity early the following year (Cross Section, 01/1955; Architecture & Arts, 02/1955:50-51). A subsequent newspaper profile of the John Holland construction company drew attention to the "glass-walled boiler house" at Fairfield as one of the firm's recent major projects (Argus, 12/08/1955:39).

The post-war period saw further expansion of the AMP complex, with the last major phase (comprising the vast brick buildings along the site's Heidelberg Road frontage) completed in 1967-68. Post-war changes to Power Station B included the construction of an additional coal-fired boiler (1963); a decade later, this was converted to natural gas, and a new gas-fired boiler installed as well. In 1977, the chimney of the building was extended by approximately twelve metres, apparently in response to concerns about environmental impact.

In 1986, APM Ltd was renamed Amcor Limited. The company continued to operate from the Alphington site until 2012, when its paper manufacturing activities were consolidated at Botany in New South Wales.

Comparisons

Here you should demonstrate the state level significance of the place/object in relation to other places/objects (two to three paragraphs or longer if desired). You should provide a comparison with other places of the same or relevant era, architect, function, location, type, or ownership. This comparison should make reference to places in Victoria, not just in the local area. It is useful to compare with other places/objects already in the Victorian Heritage Register. Consider what special characteristics the place/object offers that may make the place of state significance. It is not sufficient to say that there are no similar places or that this place is ‘unique’.

Power Station B has often been discussed in the context of early use of curtain-walled technology in Victoria. This includes research by Professor Miles Lewis in his online resource Building Culture (Section 8.10, metal windows & curtain walling), in Philip Goad’s Guide to Melbourne Architecture (p168) and, more recently, in Lovell Chen’s CMP for the AMCOR site. It must be noted, however, that all three of these sources cite the building’s date as 1954. Consequently, the comparative analysis contained therein need to be re-appraised in the light of new research that now confirms the building to have been designed as early as 1951.

In its modern sense, the curtain-wall has been defined as “a type of external non-loadbearing wall composed of repeating modular elements, shop-manufactured and erected on site, which performs all the functions of separation between indoors and out, and in particular those of defence against external agencies, thermal and acoustical insulation and regulation of view, light and air” (Gerd Hadje (ed), Encyclopedia of Modern Architecture: 78-9). There has been some lengthy discussion (notably by Lewis) of the antecedence of curtain-wall technology in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. While Lewis has identified such local pre-war manifestations such as McPherson’s Building in Collins Street (Reid & Pearson with Stuart Calder, 1936) and Barnett’s Building in Bourke Street (Seabrook & Fildes, 1937-38), he points out that their use of continuous glazing is not, strictly speaking, a curtain wall in the modern sense. The one example that might be described thus, Leonard House at 44-46 Elizabeth Street (Walter Burley Griffin, 1924), must also be considered as an anomaly on the local scene, being the work of an idiosyncratic and experimental non-local architect known for resolving details from first principles. In any case, Leonard House is of no value as a current comparator to Power Station B, as the building was demolished in 1976.

In the CMP for the AMCOR complex, the comparative analysis for Power Station B cites an earlier post-war example in the boiler house at the Yallourn power station, dated 1947, which reportedly had a continuous glazed wall to the equivalent of five storey height. However, this was deemed to be only a ‘partial curtain wall’ as it incorporated light columns at broad intervals, which are absent at Power Station B, a true curtain wall.

Chronology

All of the other early local examples of curtain wall technology, whether cited in Lewis’s Building Culture or the CMP for the AMCOR site (which, in any case, drew much of its information from Lewis), date from 1952 to 1956. As such, they were all demonstrably predated by Power Station B at Alphington, which was designed in 1951 and already well under construction by 1951-52. In the following list, comparators are arranged in date order, with brief annotation to clarify the chronology of design, construction and completion in comparison to Power Station B.

Heinz factory, Princes Highway, Dandenong (Hassell & McConnell, 1952-55). The firm’s scheme to erect a new factory at Dandenong was announced in May 1951 (Argus, 15/05/1951:2); five months later, it was stated that planning would soon start (Dandenong Journal, 31/10/1951:11). A perspective drawing was published in May 1952 (Dandenong Journal, 14/05/1952:1). In April 1953, it was noted that site excavation was underway and construction would soon begin (Dandenong Journal, 08/04/1952:11). Work began in November, and it was anticipated to be finished by June 1954 (Cross Section, 11/52:1). Photographs of the completed factory were published in April 1955, and it was officially opened on 7 November 1955.

The Olympic Swimming Pool (1952-56). These dates are drawn from a CMP prepared for the building by Michael Taylor Architects (2013). The competition for the design of the Olympic Swimming Pool was launched in October 1952, and the deadline for entries set as 17 December. The winners (the team of Kevin Borland, Peter McIntyre and John & Phyllis Murphy) were announced before Christmas, but the project was delayed by several factors, including a change of site, in the first half of 1953. Final plans were approved in January 1954. Preliminary site work began in February and tenders for construction were called in June. Although early reports stated that the building would be completed by December 1955, it was not completed until early September 1956.

Cheseborough Manufacturing Company factory, Dandenong Road, Clayton (Hugh Peck & Associates, 1952-53).

The project was under construction in late 1952 (Cross Section, 12/52:2). It was in operation early the following year, when the company advertised for staff "for their new factory" (Dandenong Journal, 18/03/1953:4). Photographs of the completed building were belatedly published in early 1955 (Cross Section, 02/1955:4).

Administration building, Kirstall-Repco Pty Ltd, Clayton (Hassell & McConnell, 1953-54). Tenders for construction of the project were called in June 1953 (Construction, 24/06/1953:9). Photographs of the completed building were published in early 1954 (Cross Section, 04/1954:1).

Doring Implements factory at Dandenong (Frank Heath, 1953-54). Tenders for the construction of this project were called in mid-1953 (Construction, 07/1953:9). In late 1953, it was reported that the company anticipated moving into its new building "early in the new year" (Dandenong Journal, 04/11/1953:5). Photographs of the completed buildings were published in August 1954 (Architecture & Arts, 08/1954:38-40)

Administration building, Shell Refinery in Geelong (Buchan, Laird & Buchan, 1953-54). Construction commenced during 1953, as it was reported in early 1954 that the ten-month construction contract had recently been completed (Cross Section, 03/1954:1). A photograph of the amenities block was published in late 1953 (Herald, 27/11/1953:12). The completed facility was opened by the Governor-General in April 1954.

Wilson Hall, University of Melbourne, Parkville (1953-56). The original Gothic Revival hall on the site was destroyed by fire in April 1952, although the ruins were not removed until May 1953. A photograph of the model of Bates Smart McCutcheon's scheme for the new hall was published in August 1953. In March 1954, it was announced that tenders would soon be called and that construction was expected to commence in June (Age, 16/03/1954:5). A tender was awarded in October 1954, and the steel frame had been erected by March 1955. The completed building was officially opened on 22 March 1956 (Argus, 10/02/1956:3).

Gilbert Court, 100 Collins Street (J A LA Gerche, 1953-55). Often cited as Melbourne's first true curtain-walled office building, the design of this building had evidently been resolved by late 1953, when a perspective drawing was published (Herald, 19/09/1953:10). Photographs of the completed building were published in 1955 (Cross Section, 07/55:3; Architecture & Arts, 10/1955: 36-37).

Physical extent and expression

Setting aside the issue of chronology, it might also be noted that the physical extent of curtain walling varied across these seven comparators. In many cases, it was used only sparingly as a feature, or extending across the equivalent of just one or two floor levels. The Cheseborough factory at Clayton, for example, used curtain walling only for a projecting stairwell bay. While the administration buildings at the Shell refinery, Kirstall-Repco factory and Doring Implements plant all had curtain walling across entire façades, they were all relatively small two-storey buildings.

Professor Lewis makes the important point that, in all of these early industrial examples, the curtain wall was divided into separate bays and not expressed as a continuous sheer surface. He considered the articulation of curtain walls without bays, as a sheer glazed surface, as a somewhat later development. Lewis went on to identify three local examples as "very dramatic uses of curtain walling in Melbourne": the aforementioned Wilson Hall at Melbourne University (with its sheer glass wall, 36 metres long and 15 metres high), the Olympic swimming pool (with its vast trapezoidal glazed walls at either end) and the subject building, Power Station B at Alphington. Lauding the latter as being "even more dramatic" than Wilson Hall, Lewis described it was "a volume equivalent to a four or five storey building, consisting of glass and aluminium hung on a steel frame, wrapping right around the building in a strikingly simple and clean manner". This pre-empted similar expression that soon became ubiquitous in central Melbourne in a string of glass-fronted skyscrapers, commencing with J A La Gerche's Gilbert Court (1953-55).

Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Values

Who are the Traditional Aboriginal Owners of this place/object?

N/A

Does this place/object have Aboriginal cultural heritage values in addition to non-Aboriginal cultural heritage values (shared values)? Provide details below. Examples could include Aboriginal protectorates and missions, honorary correspondents' depots, native police paddocks, scarred trees, sites of frontier conflict, sites of political protest, associations with eminent Aboriginal leaders, burial sites, graves, special objects or places of state level social or spiritual significance to the Aboriginal community in Victoria.

Note: If the place/object is of cultural heritage significance only on the grounds of its association with Aboriginal tradition, Aboriginal traditional use, or Aboriginal archaeology, it may be more appropriate for registration in the Victorian Aboriginal Heritage Register. Please contact the Office of Aboriginal Affairs Victoria on 1800 762 003 or aboriginalaffairs@dpc.vic.gov.au

Condition

Is there any damage to the fabric (the materials from which the place/object is made)? Specify which materials and the extent of damage. For example: 20% of the original roof has been lost; the whole interior has been repainted; the fence has deteriorated and is in poor condition. Is the place/object generally in excellent, good, fair, poor condition?

It was not possible to undertake an internal inspection of the building as part of this nomination, nor to gain access to the site for a more detailed external inspection.

When seen from key public viewpoints along Chandler Highway and Rex Avenue, the exterior of the original building appears to remain in fair condition. It appears to have suffered some neglect, or possibly vandalism, since the CMP was completed in 2013.

... please continue on an additional sheet of paper if necessary.

Intactness/Integrity

How much of the original form/appearance remains? What alterations are present and why was the place altered? Is it still possible to read the heritage values of the place/object if it has changed or been altered?

Originally, Power Station B comprised the boiler house proper (the tall building facing Chandler Highway) and the smaller turbine house (to its east side). As noted elsewhere, it has been altered by the addition of two more boilers on the north side: a coal-fired boiler with tall concrete chimney (c.1963) and a later gas-fired boiler (c.1973).

In the 2013 CMP, Power Station B was described as being "substantially more intact" than its pre-war counterpart alongside, which has been gutted and its chimney partly demolished. It was further noted that the newer building "contains much of its original equipment, including the turbine room, external coal conveyors and annexe buildings".

The alterations made to the building in the 1960s and '70s, which relate to increasing the capacity of the building for its original use, and to changes in technology (ie conversion from coal to gas-firing) are not considered to have compromised the heritage values of the original building, which can still be readily interpreted. In any case they have been demolished since they were documented in the 2013 CMP.

... please continue on an additional sheet of paper if necessary.

Threat

Is the place under imminent threat of demolition or development? Yes No

This information is sought to assist Heritage Victoria to prioritise assessments. 'Threat' is not a criterion for inclusion in the Victorian Heritage Register nor is it a factor in determining state level significance. Please note that the proposed sale of a place or object does not necessarily, in itself, constitute a threat of demolition or disturbance.

If yes, what form does the threat take?

Provide details

The entire Amcor factory site has been slated for redevelopment as "a major residential precinct with shops, offices, open spaces and community facilities". A City of Yarra council resolution, dated 2 December 2015 and available online, notes that that is intended for Power Station B to be demolished. For further details, see:

Proposed extent of registration

This following illustration, taken from the Lovell Chen CMP for the AMCOR complex (Citation P2, unpaginated), is an c.2013 aerial photograph of Power Station B, identifying its individual components.

The fabric of the building deemed to be significant at the state level comprises all of the fabric from the original phase of construction from 1951 to 1954. This includes the boiler house proper (outlined below as 1), the turbine house (2) and the coal conveyor (3). The two subsequent phases of addition to the north side, indicated below as (4) and (5) are not considered to be significant, and, in any case, have been demolished since the CMP was completed. The original 1920s boiler house (aka Power Sttation A), partly shown to the east side, is also not considered to be of significance at the state level.

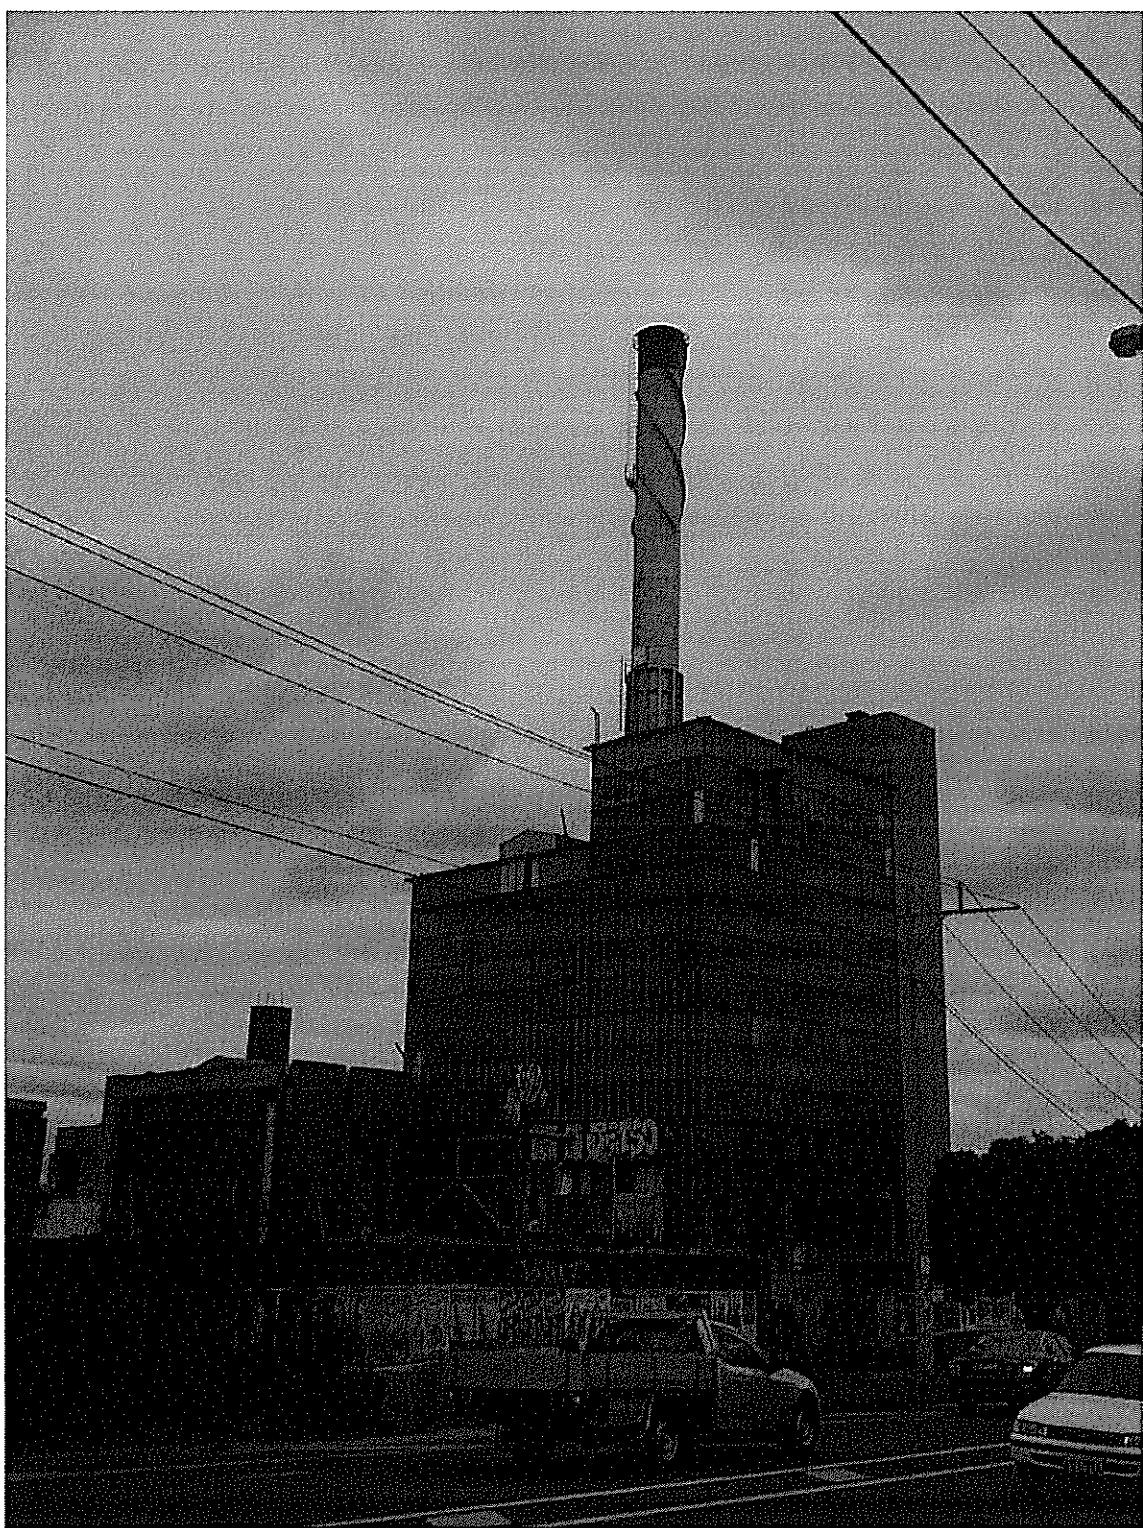

This (More recent) aerial photograph, shows the proposed extent of registration, including the items identified on the previous page as well as additional curtilage, extending to the property's Chandler Highway boundary, in order to allow the building to remain visible from public viewpoints.

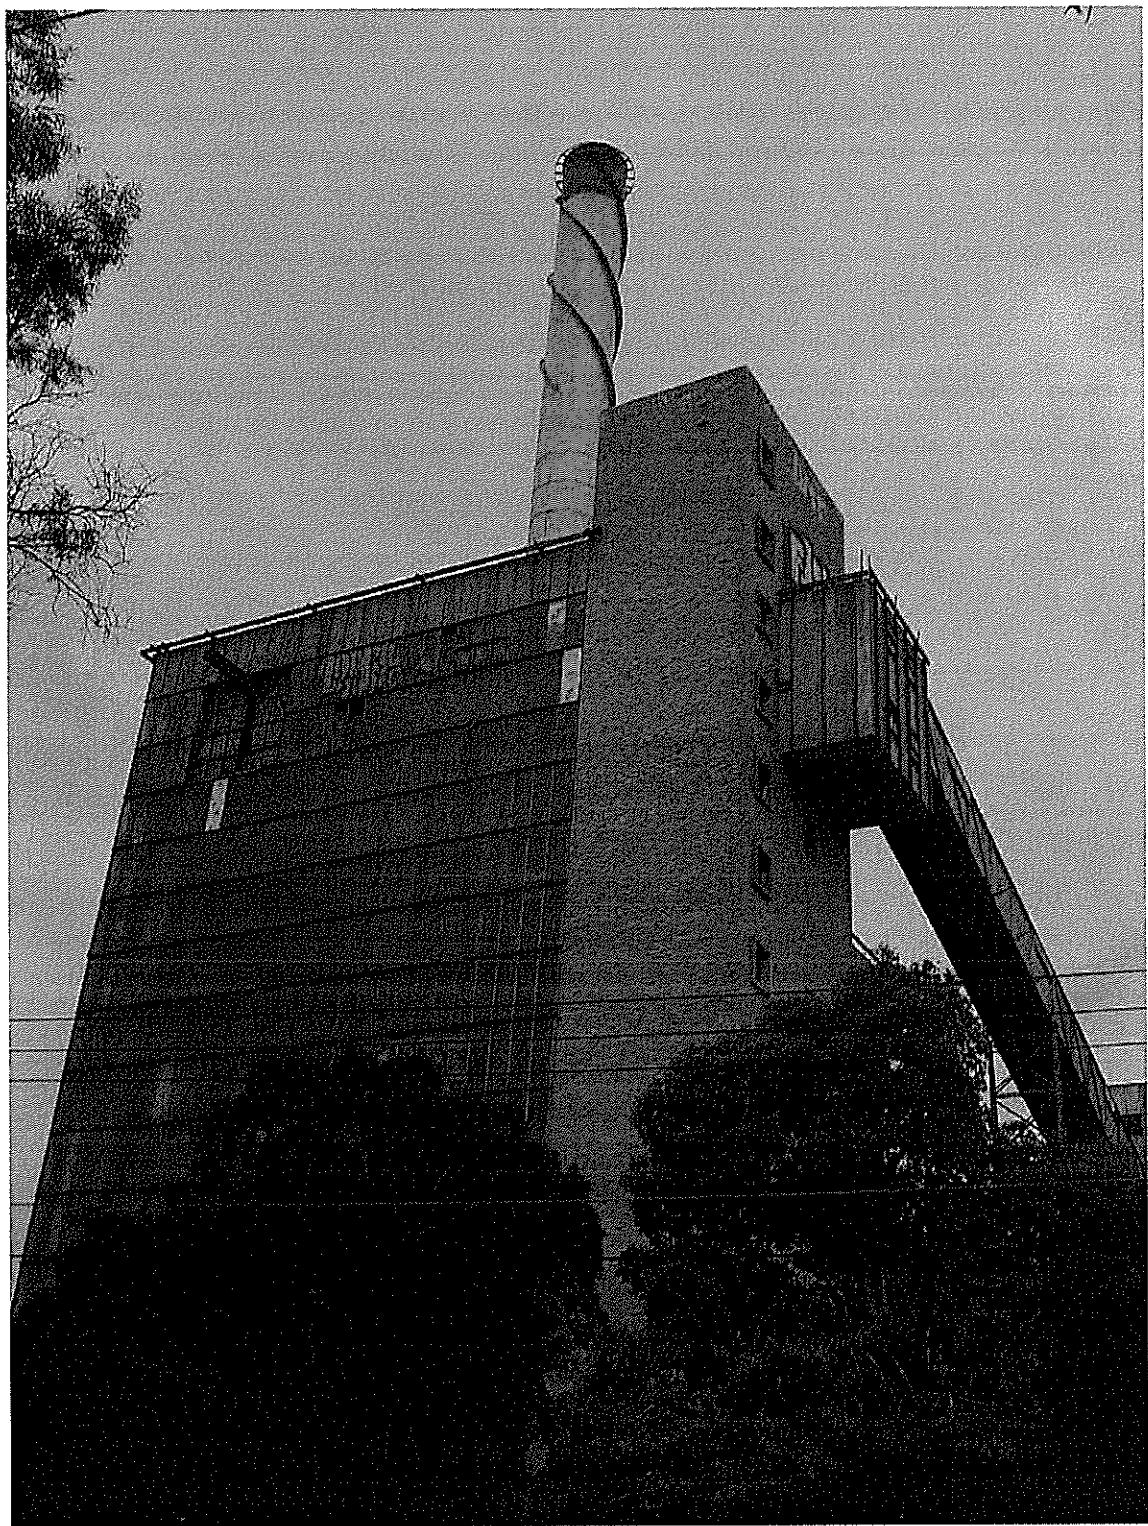

Note that the post-1954 additions to the north side have been demolished, and that the original 1920s boiler house (Power Station A) still stands to the east side.

By the use of rational standards and materials in relation to the condition of the industry which erects it and the industry which will use it, this project illustrates a conscious striving for an ideal form. As it is a structure to house a machine, it is correct that it should be a statement of technical fact—mechanistic.

Structural steel, clad only in glass & a little aluminium, surrounds the new boiler & turbine for Aust'n Paper Manufacturers at Fairfield, Vic. Fans supplement the boiler's own forced-draught to circulate air up the tower to keep operatives' temperatures down. (MusSEN, Mackay & Potter, arch'ts & struct-eng'r's; John Holland Constr'n, bldrs; boiler by Babcock & Wilcox.) /In Q'land the APM has resumed work on its £5-m factory at Petrie, after a halt during a business slump.

£300,000 GLASSHOUSE

This impressive boiler house, for Australian Paper Manufacturers Limited, has been built on the site of an old creek bed. Foundations are of reinforced concrete and framing is of structural steel.

Using a technique new to such buildings in this country, the external walls are mainly of glass. Six feet by two feet sheets of quarter-in. cast wired glass are held by galvanised mild steel glazing bars spanning between horizontal steel angle girts. Parapets are faced with pressed aluminium sheets continuing the pattern of the glazing.

To help maintain agreeable working conditions, air circulation is effected by boiler forced-draught and induced-draught fans drawing their air supply up through the building from ground level.

The Boiler, by Babcock and Wilcox, has a capacity of 100,000 lb. steam per hour at 420 lb. per square inch.

The Extraction Turbine of 3,500 kW. is by British Thompson Houston.
